

The Candle cried
By: Arushi Naina

I wept yesterday all night long
I tasted my tears with thirst
I let the fear hold me tight
I let the candle burn all night
And so the candle cried.

My eyes brimmed with tears
Darkness surrounded me with fear
My eyes could not see
Or was I blind?
And so the heart cried...

Death was yet to reach me,
But the funeral was already underway
I wept as the candle burned
No one heard my agony
And so the candle cried.

I let the tear quench my thirst,
I looked around and no one was there.
How long has it been?
Was it my new home?
Or was it a long nightmare?